Albion College Presents . . .

"The New Genetics and Society" brought 13 distinguished scientists, philosophers, lawyers, journalists, clergymen and legislators to Albion's campus for two days of presentations and discussions. Opening the symposium, which was funded by the National Endowment for the Humanities, were addresses by Arnold W. Ravin (above), professor of biology at University of Chicago, and F. Clárke Fraser, one of North America's most distinguished geneticists. Other addresses were delivered by Paul Ramsey, theologian of Christian ethics and social theory, and Margery Shaw, president-elect of the Genetics Society of America and expert on legal issues in medicine.

Four panels discussed the scientific controversies, the social, economic and cultural implications of genetic control, the ethical dimensions of the new genetics, and legal aspects of the field. Participants were Fraser, Ravin, Ramsey, Thomas Worthy, research associate in human genetics and development at Columbia University; Howard Brody, department of human development at Michigan State; Harold M. Schmeck, Science correspondent for the New York Times; Roy D. Schmickel, professor of pediatrics and human genetics at the University of Michigan; H. Lynn Jondahl, state representative from the 59th District; Robert M. Veatch, senior associate for medical ethics at the Institute of Society, Ethics, and the Life Science; John M. Brundage, Calhoun County juvenile court judge; Barbara J. Culliton, assistant news editor of Science magazine; Phillip R. Reilly, research fellow in law, science and medicine at Yale University; and John N. Vournakis, assistant professor of biology at Syracuse University.

A special committee, chaired by Russell Aiuto, associate professor of biology, spent more than a year planning the symposium.

Douglas Fraser spoke at Albion in February, several months prior to his election as president of the United Auto Workers. His appearance was sponsored by Omicron Delta Epsilon, the economics honorary.

Throughout the academic year, the visual arts department sponsored exhibitions of various art media.

Margaret Mead, psychologist, teacher, lecturer and writer spoke on the topic "Science and Cultural Values" before an audience of about 1200 in Goodrich Chapel. Mead touched upon subjects ranging from the atom bomb to the need for developing new energy sources. Calling for a unified earth, she concluded her lecture saying we must revise our image of the brotherhood of man.

Vincent Bugliosi, prosecuting attorney in the Tate-Bianca murder trial and author of Helter Skelter, spoke on the unique aspects of the Manson slayings. He explained the history of the case and the strange nature of the Manson "family."

Soccer

The 1976 Albion College soccer team showed promise as it finished second in the MIAA behind Calvin. Under the coaching of Jeff Cocks, the Britons placed three team members on the All-MIAA team: Brian McPheely was chosen to the first team, Tom Gilbert and Dave Barret to the second.

The team's conditioning and aggressive play by Chuck Wilder, Brian Dean and Stan Kryder helped to develop a balanced offense and strong defense. The Briton's scoring power was aided by the one-two punch of Tom Gilbert and top goal-scorer Brian McPheely. The back-field play was complimented by the net-minding efforts of Chris Cooke.

The 1976 football season for the Albion Britions was a successful one. Aside from winning the MIAA title with a 5 and 0 league record, they were nationally ranked as high as number two in the NCAA Division III. With an overall record of nine wins and no losses, the Britions were the only team to finish undefeated in either Division II or III.

Though never overshadowing the team effort, individual honors showed the greatness of the 1976 squad. Defensive tackle Steve Spencer was named a Division III All-American. The all-MIAA team listed eleven Britons including quarterback Steve Robb as Most Valuable Player. The team provided Albion's campus with it's finest football season ever.

The 1977 men's swimming team ended the season with a disappointing 3-5 record. Up and down throughout the year, team play became evident as two relay teams, 400 freestyle and 400 medley, became constant winners. Individuals who highlighted the season included Trace Kline in short distance freestyle events, diver Mark Mainwaring, captain Pete Anderson, and senior Paul Jocks.

The women's team fared better, finishing with a 3-3 record in the MIAA. Paced by senior Jan Slavens in the butterfly and junior Merri Williams in the backstroke, the squad finished the year strong with a 93-25 trouncing of Alma.

Basketball

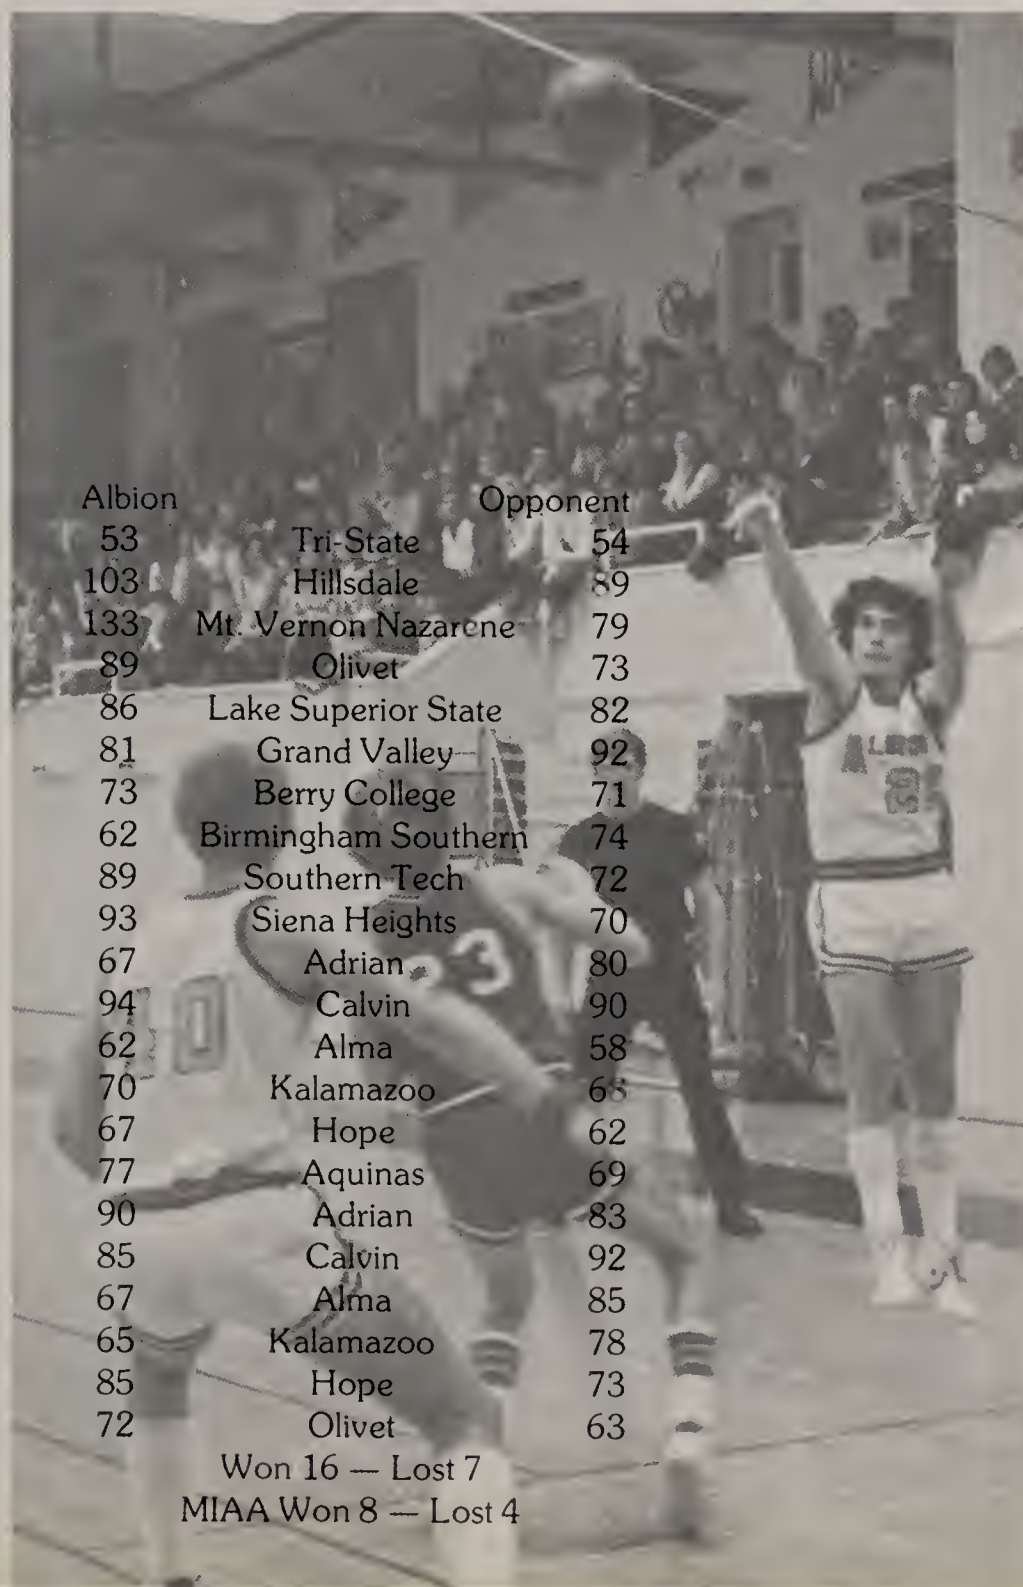

The Britons, led by senior forward Paul Cryderman, finished second in the MIAA behind a hot Calvin team with a 8-4 league record and a 16-7 record overall. With Cryderman, sophomore John Nibert, and junior Mike Williams all averaging 12.4 points per game along with Milton Barnes' average of 13.9, the squad showed balance and coordinated team effort.

The high point of the season came when Albion matched Calvin point for point through regulation time and two exciting overtimes before taking the lead for good, finishing with a 94-90 victory. Later in the season Calvin revenged the loss with a seven point victory clinching their league championship. With only one starter graduating, the outlook for the Britons in 1977-78 is promising.

The Club, currently non-affiliated with the college athletic department, has built up a team over the past two years out of student interest and the leadership of senior Andy Athens. They have raised all their operating and equipment funds themselves with the help of advisor Steve Drake. Other school records were set by Cindy Herriman in the two-mile run; Sharon Plumley in the javelin throw, and Kathy Adams in the shotput.

Lacrosse

The 1977 student run and financed Briton Lacrosse Club earned a respectable 6-4 season record. CHALLENGE

The dimension of the cast metals industry today, which is constantly enlarging and expanding with the introduction of new concepts and techniques, can be primarily attributed to the high quality of the young men who are entering the industry. The college graduate who accepts the challenge of a career in founding bears a great responsibility in solving the complex problems within the framework of a 20th century technology.
